New Deputy Director of the Administrative Services Division Selected for the Office of the State Engineer

(SANTA FE, New Mexico) – New Mexico State Engineer John D’Antonio has selected a new Deputy Director of the Administrative Services Division for the Office of the State Engineer.

Maria Robinson assumed her new responsibilities as of April 11, 2003. Prior to this position, Robinson was the Administrative Services Division Director for the State Department of Public Safety. Before that, she was the administrative assistant to New Mexico State Police Chief Frank Taylor from 2000 to 2002.

Robinson has a bachelor’s degree in accounting from the College of Santa Fe. She is a native of Santa Fe.

The Office of the State Engineer and the Interstate Stream Commission are separate but companion agencies charged with administering the state's water resources. The agencies have power over the supervision, measurement, appropriation and distribution of almost all surface and ground water in New Mexico, including streams and rivers that cross state boundaries. The State Engineer is also Secretary of the Interstate Stream Commission and oversees the staff of both agencies.
